Welcome mat widens at AFVW retirement community

AFVW, a Continuing Care Retirement Community in Riverside, Calif., is now welcoming all individuals, 60 years of age and older, who have served their country and their community.

Until recently, only retired or honorably discharged military officers and high-ranking government officials were eligible to reside at AFVW, formerly Air Force Village West.

With its new expanded eligibility, the community is now open to all retired or honorably discharged military regardless of service branch, rank or grade, all former government employees and those who have served their communities - including police officers, firefighters and politicians - along with their spouses and surviving spouses.

AFVW offers an active, maintenance-free lifestyle on 221 acres of the former March Air Force Base. It is conveniently located near golf courses, the March Air Reserve Base exchange and commissary, airports, mountain resorts, beaches and casinos.

Housing choices include single-family homes, duplexes and apartments with 15 different floor plans ranging from 644 to 3,300 square feet.

The secure-gated, pet-friendly community offers:

- Flexible dining options in its club-style dining room or Village Café with indoor and outdoor terraces
- Weekly housekeeping
